

To Whom it may Concern,

SBS have been involved with the school since about 2008. Initially their role was to maintain just the SIMS database but this has grown into a comprehensive ICT service.

Their first task was to improve the infrastructure, which had almost collapsed and they replaced a number of servers.

Our systems are now robust and reliable (I cannot think of any systems interruption of any significance in the academic year just finished).

Upgrades are planned, advised to all staff and executed with minimal disruption. Responses to faults meet all our expectations.
